A) About CHaOS

Cambridge Hands-On Science (CHaOS) is a non-profit organisation that is run as a student society of the University of Cambridge.

CHaOS uses the photos and video footage we take to promote future events, and to show future interested parties how CHaOS events work. They may be used in flyers, brochures, posters, our website and other promotional material. In the future they may be used in magazine articles, journals, books, museums, television programmes and other material. A photograph in which a person may be recognised will only be used by CHaOS if permission has been obtained from the person concerned. For this reason, we're asking you to sign the form below.
